On the subject of a supervisor being able to get rid of an employee. Am I going to have to be a brown-nose & put up with harassment again just to make sure I keep my job? What if there is a personality conflict & he/she wants to fire me but my performance is good. Under the NSPS he/she could do that & I won't be able to prove it. Cause I can't file a grievance anymore.

Sincerely,

Pamela Garcia
